West Midlands Family Cancer Strategy: Completing the Family History Form

Why have I been given a family history form?

You have been given a Family History Form because of concerns about the cancers that have occurred in your family. This may be because there have been several cancers in your family or because you or a relative has had cancer at a young age. In most families, cancers will have occurred by chance, and the risk to other people in the family is no different to that of the general population. However, a small proportion of cancers (less than 10%) are due to an inherited predisposition. Before we try and answer your questions about the risks of cancers in your family and whether extra screening is beneficial for you, it is important to try and collect as much information as possible about your family history, using this form.

How is the information I give used?

The information you provide will be used to:

- ★ Assess your personal risk of developing cancer.
- ★ Suggest an appropriate screening (surveillance) programme for you if appropriate.
- ★ Advise your doctor about appropriate screening and how often you should be seen for this.
- ★ Give advice about any other appropriate investigations (eg. genetic testing can be useful in some families).
- ★ Help provide similar advice for other members of your family.

How should I fill in the form?

Please complete the form giving as much information as possible about your blood relatives, including those who have not had cancer. You may find it easier to start on the row that refers to your mother and complete the boxes relating to her before you start on the next member of your family. An example of how to fill in a row for someone who has had cancer is given on the form. If you need extra space, use the Additional Relatives sheet on the back of the Medical History Form, and you can continue on a separate sheet if necessary.

What if I don't know all these details?

If you do not know all the information, perhaps someone else in the family would be able to help you. If this is not possible please do not worry, just provide the information that you can. You can write "don't know" in the boxes you cannot fill.

Names: If a relative has changed their name (eg. due to marriage or divorce) please give any previous names.

Address: If you do not know a relative's address, please write the town or city they lived in when they had cancer.

Dates of birth/death: If you do not know the full date, the year or a rough date is still helpful (eg. 1920-1930).

Type of cancer: We need to know where in the body individuals had cancer(s) (eg. breast, bowel, lung) or if they have had bowel polyps. If a relative had cancer but you don't know where, write "Unknown cancer".

Age at diagnosis: Please put the age at which your relative was diagnosed for each cancer they had.

If I give you my relatives' details, will you contact them directly?

There are 2 columns at the end of the form to be completed only for living relatives who have had cancer. We would like to ask these relatives for permission to obtain more details about their cancer from their medical records. We do not usually need to remove any records as we can obtain copies of the appropriate reports. We can send your relative a consent form to ask for this permission if you indicate you are happy for us to do so and have provided an address. We will not contact your relatives without your permission. If you would prefer, we can send you a consent form to pass onto them. If you are unable to pass a consent form on to a relative (eg. if you are not in contact) please indicate this in the final column so that we can proceed without delay.

What happens next?

Your doctor or nurse may have asked you to return the form to them or they may have asked you to post it to us directly. Once we receive your form, your genetic counsellor and consultant will look at the information you have given to assess whether your risk of cancer is increased. If your risk is no different to the general population, we will write to you to reassure you that extra screening is not likely to be beneficial for you.

We may need to get some more specific details about the cancers in your family from medical records. We can access this automatically for relatives who are deceased but we need consent from living relatives to look at their information, as mentioned above. If we cannot do this we will still proceed but our advice may be less accurate.

Once we have obtained all the information we need from you and any we need from medical records, we will be able to advise you about further screening and/or genetic investigations which are available for you and your family. We will either write to you or arrange an appointment for you to discuss this further with one of our genetics doctors or genetic counsellors. We endeavour to offer you further advice within 18 weeks of receiving this form. It would help us greatly if any consent forms we send to you or your relatives are returned promptly.

Is this information confidential?

It is possible that the information you provide on this form could be helpful in giving similar advice to other members of your family. If there is any specific information that should be kept in confidence, please let us know and we will do our best to ensure we do not disclose it to anyone else in your family.
